CONTENTS OF VOLUME XVI

Fibromuscular Dysplasia of Cervico-Cephalic Arteries With Multiple Dissections and a Carotido-Cavernous Fistula. A Pathological Study ................................................................. 255
J. Belloir, R. Gherardi, J. Poirier, P. Lacour, G. Debrun, and J. Barbizet

Constricting Effect of Leukotrienes of Cerebral Arterioles ............................................. 262
William J. Rosenblum

The Influence of Noninvasive Tests on the Selection of Patients for Carotid Angiography .......... 264
Daniel H. O'Leary, Melvin E. Clouse, Jeffery E. Potter, and Hugh G. Wheeler

CT Contrast Enhancement on Brain Scans and Blood-CSF Barrier Disturbances in Cerebral Ischemic Infarction .......................................................... 268
C.R. Hornig, O. Busse, T. Buckner, W. Dornhorst, A. Agnoli, and Z. Akengin

Measurement of Activated rCBF by the 133Xe Inhalation Technique: A Comparison of Total Versus Partial Curve Analysis ............................................. 274

Prognosis in Middle Cerebral Artery Occlusion ................................................................. 282
D.E. Moulis, R. Lo, J. Chiang, and H.J.M. Barnett

A Histochemical Study of Cerebral Cortical Vessels and Ganglionic Vessels of the Caudato putamen in Aging Normotensive Rats .......... 285
Gari Kalmari Rieke, and M. Samuel Cannon

Cerebral Blood Flow Studies Using N-Isopropyl I-123 p-Iodoamphetamine ................................ 293
Hidenori Kobayashi, Minoru Hayashi, Hirokazu Kawano, Yuji Handa, Junichi Nosaki, Shinjiro Yamamoto, and Hiroshi Matsuda

Innervation of Brain Intraparenchymal Vessels in Subhuman Primates: Ultrastructural Observations ................................................................. 297
L. Briggs, J.H. Garcia, R.A. Conger, H. Pinto de Moraes, J.C. Geer, and W. Hollander

Effect of Recirculation and Regional Counting Rate on Reliability of Noninvasive Bicom partmental CBF Measurements .................................. 301
K. Herholz

Pressor Response to Electrical and Chemical Stimulation of Nucleus Raphae Dorsalis in the Cat ................................................................. 307
R.D. Piper, and P.J. Goadsby

The Morphometry of Consecutive Segments in Cerebral Arteries of Normotensive and Spontaneously Hypertensive Rats .............. 313
C. Nordborg, K. Fredriksson, and B.B. Johansson

Reaction of Pial Arteries and Veins to Hypercapnia in Hypertensive and Normotensive Rats 320
Barbro B. Johansson, Ludwig M. Auer, and Ichiro Sayama

A 1-4 Year Follow-Up Study of 306 Cases of Stroke ......................................................... 323
Quingiang Chen, and Ruizhu Ling

SHORT COMMUNICATION: Cerebral Infarction in a Young Female Following Snake Bite ................................................................. 328
Rifaat Bashir, and John Jinkins

LETTERS-TO-THE-EDITOR: Middle Cerebral Artery Stenosis .............................................. 331
R. Michael Scott
RESPONSE BY: John Marshall

Anticoagulation-Related Hemorrhage in Acute Cerebral Embolism .................................. 331
Gary J. Martin and Jose Biller, Stephen Phillips, and L.P. Heffernan

RESPONSE TO PREVIOUS THREE LETTERS: Robert W. Shields, Jr., Robert Laoreno, Tim Lachman, and Maurice Victor

Anticoagulant-Related Hemorrhage in Acute Cerebral Embolism ........................................ 333
J. Matias-Guiu, J. Alcanares, C. Cervera, and A. Codina

Mitral Valve Prolapse and Embolic Stroke ................................................................. 334
Robert G. Hart, and David Sherman

RESPONSE BY: Philip A. Wolf, and William B. Kannel

ERRATUM ................................................................. 335

ABSTRACTS OF LITERATURE ................................................................. 336

NEWS FROM THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION ................................................................. 358A

No. 3 (May-June)

EDITORIAL: Risk Factors for Stroke .............. 359
Philip A. Wolf

PROGRESS REVIEW: Positron Emission Tomography and Its Application to the Study of Cerebrovascular Disease in Man .................... 361
William J. Powers, and Marcus E. Raichle

Risk Factors for Subarachnoid Hemorrhage ........... 377
W.T. Langstreet, Jr., Thomas D. Koepsell, Mark S. Verby, and Gerald van Belle

ORIGINAL CONTRIBUTIONS: Double-Blind Controlled Trial of Prostacyclin in Cerebral Infarction ................................................................. 386
John Martin, NeVeen Hamdy, John Nicholls, Norman Lewinas, Ulf Bergvall, Pauline Owen, Diana Syder, and Michael Holroyd

Dietary and Risk Factors for Stroke in Hawaiian Japanese Men .............................................. 390

The International Cooperative Study of Extracranial/Intracranial Arterial Anastomosis (EC/IC Bypass Study): Methodology and Entry Characteristics .......................................................... 397

The EC/IC Bypass Study Group

Persantine Aspirin Trial in Cerebral Ischemia: Endpoint Results .................................................. 406

The American-Canadian Co-Operative Study Group

A Secondary Prevention, Randomized Trial of Suloctidil in Patients with a Recent History of Thromboembolic Stroke .......................................................... 416

Computed Tomographic Evaluation of Cervical Carotid Plaque Complications .......................... 425

Antonio Culebras, Mark D. Leeson, Edwin D. Cacayorin, Charles J. Hodge, and Affi R. Iliya

Delayed Cerebral Ischemia Following Arteriography ......................................................................... 431

Mark Fisher, Rodney Sandier, and John M. Weiner

The Role of Venous Digital Subtraction Angiography of the Carotid Bifurcation in the Evaluation of Patients with Reversible Ischemic Attacks or Stroke .............................................. 435

Joseph Th. J. Tans, Peter H. Hoogland, and Erik J. Jonkman

Isolation of Speech Area From Focal Brain Ischemia ..................................................................... 441

Julien Bogousslavsky, Franco Regli, and Gil Assal

Limb Shaking — A Carotid TIA ........................................................................................................... 444

George D. Baquis, Michael S. Pessin, and R. Michael Scott

Ultrastructural Morphometry of Hypertensive Medial Damage in Lenticulostriate and Other Arteries .......................................................... 449

Shigeo Takebayashi

Lacunar Syndrome Due To Intracerebral Hemorrhage ................................................................. 454

Etsuro Mori, Masayasu Tabuchi, and Atsushi Yamadori

Cause of Cerebral Infarction in the Carotid Territory. Its Relation to the Size and the Location of the Infarct and to the Underlying Vascular Lesion .......................................................... 459

Tom Skyhøj Olsen, Elisabeth Bech Skriver, and Margrethe Herning

Graded Focal Cerebral Ischemia in the Rat By Unilateral Carotid Artery Occlusion and Elevated Intracranial Pressure: Hemodynamic and Biochemical Characterization ........................................... 466

Raul Busto, and Myron D. Ginsberg

Upper Limit of Cerebral Autoregulation During Development of Hypertension in Spontaneously Hypertensive Rats — Effect of Sympathetic Denervation ........................................................................... 477

Seiizo Sadoshima, Fujio Yoshida, Setsuro Ibayashi, Osamu Shikawa, and Masatoshi Fujishima

Pharmacological Comparison of Isolated Monkey and Dog Cerebral Arteries ............................... 482

Tmio Sasaki, Neal F. Kaszell, James C. Turner, William Maxner, and Donn M. Turner

A New Model of Bilateral Hemispheric Ischemia in the Rat — Three Vessel Occlusion Model 489

Motonobu Kameyama, Jiro Suzuki, Reizou Shirane, and Akira Ogawa

A Model of Selective Experimental Ischemia in the Primate Thalamus ......................................... 493

Janos Vajda, Neil Branstoun, Amanda Ladda, and Lindsay Symon

Actinomycin D Suppresses the Protective Effect of Dexamethasone in Rats Affected By Global Cerebral Ischemia ................................................................................................................. 501

Árpád Tótski, Mátéyi Koltai, Ferenc Joó, György Ádám, Péter Szerdahelyi, István Lépő, István Takács, and László Székeres

Effect of Common Carotid Occlusion on β-Adrenergic Receptor Function in Cerebral Microvessels ............................................................................................................................... 505

Maris Sandra Magnoni, Hideyuki Kobayashi, Ludovico Frattola, Pier Franco Spano, and Marco Trabucchi

SHORT COMMUNICATIONS: Intracranial Hemorrhage Due To Phenylpropanolamine .......................... 510

Donald G. Kikta, Michael W. Devreux, and Krishan Chandar

Multiple Transient Ischemic Attacks, Lupus Anticoagulant And Verrucous Endocarditis 512

Joseph G. D’Alton, David N. Preston, Janis Bormanis, Martin S. Green, and Gunnar R. Kraag

Cerebral Amyloid Angiopathy Associated With Giant Cell Arteritis: A Case Report ..................... 514
