Correction to: Lifestyle Interventions to Prevent Cardiovascular Events After Stroke and Transient Ischemic Attack: Systematic Review and Meta-Analysis

In the article by Deijle et al, “Lifestyle Interventions to Prevent Cardiovascular Events After Stroke and Transient Ischemic Attack: Systematic Review and Meta-Analysis,” which published online ahead of print on December 6, 2016, and appeared in the January 2017 issue of the journal (Stroke. 2017;48:174–179. DOI: 10.1161/STROKEAHA.116.013794), a correction is needed.

On page 174, the following sentence has been removed: “Unfortunately, this systematic review also included studies with other patients besides those with a TIA or ischemic stroke, such as patients with a lower limb amputation.” In addition, reference 10 is now cited at the end of the following sentence: “No significant effects were reported for mortality, cardiovascular event rates, cholesterol, blood pressure, or cardiovascular risk factors.”

This correction has been made to the current online version of the article, which is available at http://stroke.ahajournals.org/content/48/1/174.
